Robert Morris University combines the best of a big research university and a small college. That's why RMU is a gateway to great careers and ranked among the top universities in the country by U.S. News & World Report.

The majority of RMU's graduate degree programs accept students on a rolling basis. Some doctoral and master's programs have deadlines. Your Graduate Enrollment Manager can provide deadline dates, if applicable to your program of study.

All applicants must submit official transcripts of all undergraduate course work and graduate course work, if applicable. Official transcripts from all schools attended, whether or not some of the work is shown as advanced standing on your transcripts, must also be sent to the Office of Graduate Admissions.

Most programs require two current letters of recommendation to be submitted directly from the recommender sent to the Office of Graduate Admissions. Letters of recommendation must be signed and dated, and cannot be older than two years. Photo copies and recommendations from family members are not valid. Some doctorate programs require three current recommendation letters.

Several degree programs require submission of a graduate exam test score.
